

Kings Toyota – Cincinnati, OH

Kings Toyota had a problem. They were denied a permit to trench across a city street to run fiber between their facilities. A high capacity connection between these facilities was needed in order to share resources such as a new VoIP system. As a result, their local contractor (Digital And Analog Design) contacted AEI who recommended a 100Base-Fx FSO link. Since FastLinks had the hardware in-stock, it was able to take an order on a Thursday and have the FSO link installed on the following Monday. Due to this quick turn around, Kings Toyota was able to open their “new car showroom” without any communication issues.
